PRODUCT MANAGER / OWNER (F/M/D) for our testing platform Nest

The early bird... starts working for Testbirds!

Since 2011 Testbirds has been a pioneer in the crowd- and cloud based testing of apps, web applications, wearables and Internet of Things applications. With the support of 100 employees and 300,000 testers globally we are successfully conquering this rapidly growing international market. If you are looking for an exciting start-up environment, this job is for you!

Your Tasks

As Product Owner we put our Test Management platform Nest, its whitelabel-solution as well as our App Distribution platform Birdflight trustfully into your hands:

- You are responsible for the vision and strategy of the product, taking into consideration the needs and requirements of internal and external stakeholders
- You translate requirements into user stories and prioritise them in our roadmap and sprint backlog
- You work closely with our cross-functional development team in the SCRUM process and you perform technical acceptance tests
- You communicate new functions and updates of the products and run trainings for stakeholders
- You continuously ensure the success of our products by analysing user-data, -behaviour and -feedback

Your Qualifications

- You have completed a relevant degree in Computer Science, business informatics, media informatics, business administration, or similar
- You have gained valuable experience as a Product Manager or Product Owner in an agile environment (e.g. SCRUM)
- You strive to continuously improve our platform, the Nest, to create the best possible user experience for all stakeholders
- You work independently, with a high degree of responsibility and enjoy making decisions
- You have experience in JIRA and Confluence
- You speak English fluently, German is a plus

We are offering

- A permanent position based in the heart of Munich near the Theresienwiese
- Flat hierarchy: you are responsible for your work and you can implement your own ideas
- Development possibilities through a variety of internal and external training opportunities
- An open culture, uncomplicated togetherness and joy of shared successes
- A great work atmosphere with flexible working hours, a lot of team activities, foosball tournaments, weekly breakfasts and all the coffee/soft drinks you can drink
